Additional information:
Multi-use servers provide functionality for DHCP, e-mail, and storage of end-user files. Multi-use server cost, including installation and maintenance, has been cost-allocated based on information in SLD's document "Cost Allocation Guidelines for File Servers and Other Components," available at: http://www.sl.universalservice.org/reference/costalloc_fileservers.asp

SLD NOTES: In some cases, manufacturers have submitted acceptable cost allocation information to the SLD. Such cost allocations can be viewed in SLD's Eligible Products Database

If manufacturer information is not available or not applicable, then applicants are to provide cost allocation information that is based on tangible information, and provides a realistic result. For further information, see the SLD document:
