About the National Verifier

- The National Verifier (NV) checks a consumer’s Lifeline eligibility.
- After eligibility is determined by the NV, a consumer selects a Lifeline-eligible phone or internet service in order to enroll in the program and receive service.
- The map shows all states where the NV has launched.

* In Texas, Oregon, and California, the NV will rely on existing state eligibility processes.
National Verifier

- All* states and territories have launched in the National Verifier.
- Puerto Rico is in soft launch status, when service provider use of the National Verifier is optional. When the NV fully launches in the coming months, service providers will be required to use the NV, and the consumer portal will become available.
- California, Oregon, and Texas will continue to operate their eligibility verification and duplicate checking processes, and the National Verifier will perform reviews for program integrity purposes.
  - Consumers in these states will continue to apply for the federal Lifeline benefit through their state’s application process.

COVID-19 Relief

The Lifeline Support Center remains fully operational

- More flexibility for consumers. The FCC has temporarily adjusted income eligibility documentation requirements to allow those who are recently unemployed to prove Lifeline eligibility. Additionally, USAC is now temporarily accepting driver’s licenses or state identification cards that have recently expired, when needed to complete a Lifeline application.

- Continued service for consumers. The FCC issued orders that temporarily pause periodic program integrity reviews, as well as recertification, monthly usage, and other requirements to ensure consumers are not involuntarily de-enrolled from the Lifeline Program during the pandemic.
