Lifeline Introduces a Tribal Lands Verification Tool for Consumers

March 26, 2026

On March 26, 2026, Lifeline launched the Lifeline Tribal Lands Verification Tool to help consumers check whether their home address is located on qualifying Tribal lands. Consumers who live on qualifying Tribal lands may be eligible to receive an enhanced Tribal benefit of up to $34.25 per month towards the cost of internet, phone, or bundled services, as well as a one-time Link Up discount of up to $100.

This tool is for informational purposes only and does not determine a consumer's eligibility for the Lifeline benefit. Consumers must apply for the Lifeline benefit and have an approved application before enrolling with a phone or internet company to begin receiving the benefit. Consumers who do not live on qualifying Tribal lands may still qualify for the standard Lifeline benefit of up to $9.25 per month.

Accessing the Lifeline Tribal Lands Verification Tool

Consumers can access the Lifeline Tribal Lands Verification tool on LifelineSupport.org under the Tribal Benefit page. Once the tool loads, consumers can search by their home address or location.

- Search by Address – consumers must enter the street address, city, state, and ZIP code of their home address to search.
- Search by Location – consumers must enter the Latitude (e.g. 37.7749) and Longitude (-122.4194) of their home address to search.

If the consumer's address is on qualifying Tribal lands, the following message will appear: 'Your address is on qualifying Tribal lands. Learn more about how to apply'.

If the consumer's address is not on qualifying Tribal lands, the following message will appear: 'Your address is not on qualifying Tribal lands. You may still qualify for the standard Lifeline benefit. Learn more about how to get Lifeline'.

Consumers can click 'Save Results' to retain a copy of the search results.

Service providers and consumer advocates are encouraged to inform consumers who live on Tribal lands about the availability of the tool.
